December 2009

Dear Friends,

It was 27 years ago that I wrote the first Friends of Man year-end letter – and many of you (believe it or not!) received it then. Since that day in 1982, many, many others have added their support to this unique charitable endeavor, and we thank you all for enabling so much to be accomplished.

The mission of Friends of Man is to help individuals directly – children, families, the elderly, disabled, those suffering from illness, and these days, people who are struggling to work just to support their family. The scope of our assistance is broad, as shown by the enclosed letters and photos.

As you can well imagine, the task of screening the many requests for help that come every day requires a delicate combination of compassion and keen attention to details. We do this with you in mind – your donations are not only used 100% but they are used with great care. (One social worker commented: “Of all the other foundation agencies I’ve worked with, yours is the most impressive. You are thorough and you ask good questions!”)

Because not a penny is taken out for administrative costs and expenses (which are paid by the volunteers), and there are no salaries, your gift (no matter what amount) brings real benefit to someone in need.

Please continue to consider Friends of Man your special charitable expression! Your tax-deductible check is most welcome, and as always, is used 100% for direct assistance.

We wish you a wonderful holiday season!

Sincerely,

Stuart A. Witkin, President
